Wehlener Sonnenuhr Riesling Kabinett Dr. Pauly-Bergweiler / Bernkastel-Kues

Terroir	"Wehlener Sonnenuhr" (Sundial of Wehlen) is a vineyard located in the heart of the Middle Moselle wine region, directly opposite the well-known wine village of Wehlen. The small south-southwest-facing terraces reach up to 250 meters above sea level. Bluish-grey, primarily stony slate from the Devonian Period combined with deposits of loess and quartzite result very mineraly wines. The increased work demanded by cultivating the steepest area right around the sundial is rewarded each year.
Description	Due to its individual slatestone notes it is straight ahead and complex at the same time. The smell reminds to citrus-fruit and pieplant. The taste is well balanced in natural sweetness and acidity. The finish is acidity driven and makes this Riesling easy to drink.
Suggestion	The Wehlener Sonnenuhr Riesling Kabinett is a perfect match for spicy asian cuisine. Try it with wok-fried rice and vegetables.
Quality Level	Kabinett
Varietal	100 % Riesling

We say:

„The Sundial of Wehlen – that’s one of the most famous vineyards in the world. The Kabinett wines are always full of minerals and drink really easy. Enjoy it just by itself!”
